Revenue

Revenue (continued)

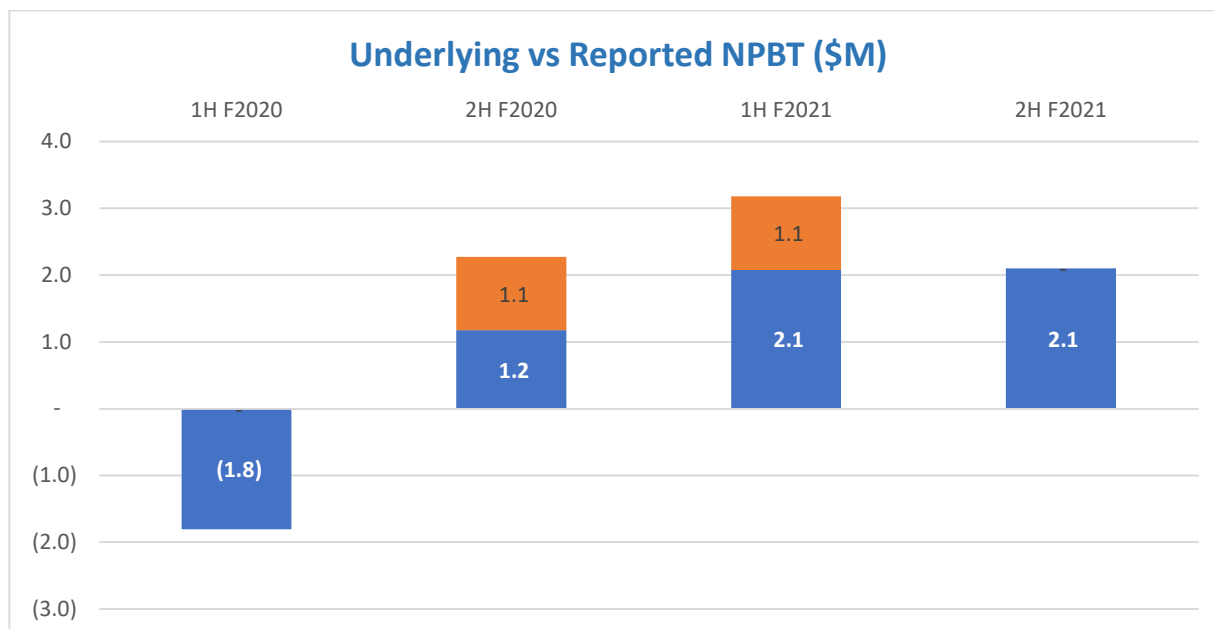

The major drivers of revenue growth were:

- Full year contribution of the brands acquired from the Hills AV business in December 2019;
- Successful supply of communication solutions to the defence industry;
- Sales to musical instrument retailers with strong on-line offerings during the COVID-19 pandemic; and
- Success of the introduction of Philips branded projectors in the consumer electronics retail market.

The business continues to achieve success across each of the markets for which we source, supply and support technology solutions. Opportunity to grow this revenue organically remains once COVID-19 impacted markets such as live entertainment and tertiary education are able to recover.

Normalised NPBT

The chart below shows half on half profit before tax, as reported, and adjusted for the impact of the JobKeeper program. The chart demonstrates that the business was able to maintain the underlying level of profit in the second half of the financial year.

NPAT and Dividend Ratio

The reported results for the business have significantly improved since the successful acquisition of the Hills AV division in December 2019. This acquisition was a step in a strategic plan to become leaders in each of the markets in which we operate. The chart below shows the impact that this has had on our ability to leverage the infrastructure the business has in place.

The strong result has enabled the Board to reward shareholders with a total dividend payout of 3.1c per share in relation to the year ended 30 June 2021 (final dividend 1.6c). This equates to a payout ratio of 47%, which is in the target range of 45%-55% of net profit after tax. Investors should take note that all accumulated tax losses of the business have now been used and the entity will be back to paying tax in relation to the 2021 financial year.

Outlook for the business

Whilst the return of the COVID-19 pandemic in delta form has created some uncertainty and variability of trading results in the short term, the general outlook for the 2022 financial year remains positive. Ambertech is well placed to continue to grow by enhancing results from our existing agencies, and through further exploring acquisition opportunities to cement our place as market leaders in each of our chosen markets.

The diversity of our business, leadership positions in certain segments and financial resources are strengths in the current climate. They position us to capitalise on opportunities that may arise.

Further information on the results will be contained in the Annual Report when it is released, and we will update the market further on results for the new financial year at the company's Annual General Meeting later in the year.
